What's New

- You can now add custom headers with static values to the webhooks sent by Digital Channels to the third-party messaging aggregator. (NEXUS-5910) More info: Third-Party Messaging API

Digital Channels: April 01, 2021

What's New

- Security improvements. Workspace Web Edition integration security has been improved. (NEXUS-5608)
- Standard Responses Library now accessible within Designer. You can now create and manage their Standard Responses Library within the Designer application. (NEXUS-5600)

- Option to disable inbound notifications from subscribed contacts. You can now choose to bypass the asynchold functionality for Chat sessions and instead send the interaction to Designer for routing. Bypassing this functionality ensures that agents do not see popup toast notifications from subscribed contacts, while allowing you to customize routing in Designer. To configure this feature for a particular session, add nexus_asynchold_enable = false to the User Data of the Chat session creation request (for example, the default User Data for the Chat session in Genesys Widgets). You can configure this feature for all sessions at the Tenant level by contacting Genesys Customer Care. (NEXUS-5598)
- WhatsApp enhancement. Multiple corporate numbers for WhatsApp are now supported within a tenant. (NEXUS-5575)
- Undeliverable message notification. A message is displayed in the Communication tab to inform the agent if a WhatsApp, an SMS, or a Chat from the Chat Widget cannot be delivered to the contact. (NEXUS-3191)

Resolved Issues

- Digital Channels no longer omits saving Chat interaction transcripts to the Universal Contact Service when the Chat message includes characters that are not allowed by the XML file format. (NEXUS-5935)
- Digital Channels now uses the correct site to validate agent credentials when Workspace Web Edition changes to a backup site during Smart Failover. (NEXUS-5727)

Known Issues

- Limitation: Smart Failover is not supported. If Workspace Web Edition switches to a backup site, the Conversation and Communication tabs are not displayed. (NEXUS-5727)
